FIFTY-THREE YEARS OLD mere turtle has a long life was That a mere turtle has a long life was evidenced by the discovery of a large turtle by Chester A. Wright of Fairmount street on Sunday while visiting at the Daniel Wright farm in North Stonington. Mr. Wright in his travels about the farm came upon a large turtle which he captured. Upon examining his catch he found carved on the shell the following:

"A. T. C. 1867. D. B. F. 4." From this it follows that the turtle had been captured 52 years ago and who ever A. T. C. was, had carved the year on the shell. These turtles are known to have lived fo rover 156 years so this one is still in its childhood.

AUTHORITIES BAFFLED BY THE DEATH OF JOSEPH B. ELWELL New York, June 13 .- The theory of suicide was virtually abandoned by the police tonight in the mysterious death of Joseph B. Eiwell, wealthy turfman and noted whist authority, who was found in his home last Friday with a bullet wound in his head. Insistence of many of the sportsman's friends that jealousy may have played an important part in the sup posed murder stirred the 25 detectives or the case to renewed activity in tracing his women acquaintances and men will whom he played bridge for high stakes. thorough search of the house failed produce the slightest clue, not even fingerprint, Police Captain Walsh said. Assistant District Attorney John E. Joyce today belittled the report that women friends of the dead man had keys to his home. He said the statement, originally attributed to Elwell's chauffeur, was absurd, as there wer couly two keys, one held by the housekeeper and the other by Mr. Elwell. Several additional persons who knew the whist expert were questioned at the Elwell home today, among them Countees S. De Szinawska and her sister, Mrs. L. Hardy. Neither would discuss the case. According to Assistant District Attorney Joyce, the sisters, who were born in Poland, met the turfman in Carlebad, Bohemia, early in the war, while at the watering place with members of their family. The two women left Carlsbad in September, 1914, and came to New York where they have lived since. A short time later, Mr. Joyce said, Elwell returned to America.

The countess and her sister admitted, the assistant district attorney stated, that Charm. their friendship with Elwell was broken after they heard he had made a remark associating them with German interests This resulted, Mr. Joyce said, in the deention of the countess as an enemy alie two years ago.

Their friendship was never renewed they said, although Elwell had gone to Washington and had straightened out the affair as far as he was concerned. Both told Mr. Joyce they had not seen Elvell for a year prior to his death. The countess denied she had ever entered the Elwell home, but the sister admitted she had visited the house on one occasion.
